

A NEW VOCABULARY
English & Latine,
FOR THE USE OF Young Scholars.

The Second Edition, Together with an APPENDIX Containing above 500 Common Adjectives, every one of which may be Adapted to one or other of the foregoing Substantives.

EDINBURGH
Printed by Mr Andrew Symson, 1707.

ty of People, the Scottish names are join'd to as many of them as seem'd to need explanation. The Latine is taken from the most approved Authors upon the several Subjects, as will appear to such as have opportunity & inclination to try.

But it is to be observed, that many words peculiar to Christianity, the names of Fire Arms & other things unknown to the Old Romans, are signified by such Latine words, as are commonly receiv'd, and us'd by Modern Writers. Some things proper to our Nation are allowed place here, clothed in such a Latine dress (for want of better) as can only plead Prescription in our Schools. And upon the Authority of the best Criticks, the English and Latine names of some Coins, &c. are so adjusted, that the things signified by them in each Language, come nearer, and answer one another better, than those ordinarily used.

The Accidents (or things to be observ'd) of Substantive Nouns, in order to their right Construction and Pronunciation, are Gender, Declination & Quantity, which are carefully marked throughout the whole. The Gender is known by observing the Rules of Signification and Termination, set down in the most plain & easie method, & fitted to the meanest capacity; Whatever word is excepted from, or not reducible to these, has a letter added shewing its Gender. The Declination is discover'd by by the Genitive Case, which is never omitted when there is any hazard of mistake.

The Quantity (so far as is requisite to the right Pronunciation) is set over each word, that falls not under the General Rules of Prosodie; these are also prefixt for the benefit of Young Scholars. The careful observation of all which, will render many crabb'd Rules of Grammar very-easie.

If any shall happen to quarrel the length of this Work, as being too great a task for Children; Let them consider, That it can be made as short as they please, by enjoining such small portions in any part of it, as they think fit, and passing by what they judge less needful : But 'tis hop'd, that it may be profitable, to all such as desire to speak or understand Latine, not only while they are Children at Schools, but even when they come to Age: And there are Many of opinion, that it may be worth it's price, to most Persons of both Sexes, who can read or write, were it only to acquaint them with so much of Nature so methodically class'd, and teach them to spell so many words of the English Language, tho it had not the addition of the Latine.

Teachers will certainly see it improper, to oblige their Scholars to mandate all these Vocables, in the precise order in which they are digested; and therefore will readily order the Heads

Heads, that are like to be soonest useful, or fittest best with the humour of Boyes, or circumstances of the places in which they live, to be first read, and leave others to be learn'd afterward.

The advice and assistance of several Learned Men, who revis'd this Piece, has contributed to make it somewhat correct: and if it serve the end for which it is design'd, & meet with favourable entertainment, it may chance to get further improvement.

A D V E R T I S E M E N T.

THe first Edition of this Vocabulary being out of print and wholly sold off, and it being frequently called for, I was advis'd to Re-print the same, which I have now done. And have added another Sheet thereto, by way of Appendix, containing about 500 Adjectives, which may be adapted to the foregoing Substantives, among which there will be found some few which are in the later end of the second Sheet of the Vocabulary; but in regard that, through the scarcity of Paper, there interven'd many Months betwixt the printing of that Sheet, and the printing of the Adjectives; I did not in the least remember that these Adjectives had been formerly inserted; & therefore the Reader is desired to excuse this as a mere inadvertency. As for the Typographical Errors, as I hope there are not many, so I expect that the candid Master will inform his Scholar of them, and teach him how to correct them. I have in this Appendix, for the benefit of such as delight in the pleasant and innocent Study of Botany, given many Adjectives which are frequently adapted to Vegetables. The short i, marked thus i being so often to be repeated, it was impossible to find with so many of them as were needed, but any intelligent Scholar with a little direction from his Master, will easily supply that defect, as also any other Vowels which shall happen to want the Characters of either short or Long.
